Introduction (back to Table of Contents)

This handbook is designed as a resource and support for those who are ministering or who are interested in ministering to inmates in prisons, jails and other correctional facilities. Within the Diocese of Owensboro there are four state prisons, twenty-four county jails/correctional facilities, and one juvenile detention center (McCracken Regional Juvenile Center; the only mention of this facility in this document). This translates into thousands of men and women who live in isolation and grief, cut off from their family and community.

While the Catholic Church does not deny a government's right to ensure public safety, our faith teaches that punishment must lead to rehabilitation and restitution. “We know that faith has a transforming effect on all our lives. Therefore, rehabilitation and restoration must include the spiritual dimension of healing and hope. The Church must stand-ready to help offenders discover the good news of the Gospel and how it can transform their lives. There should be no prisons, jails, or detention centers that do not have a regular and ongoing Catholic ministry and presence.” (Responsibility, Rehabilitation, and Restoration: A Catholic Perspective on Crime and Criminal Justice, USCCB, 11-2000; see page 7 for more of this USCCB document)

Prison ministry does not seek to devalue the great pain and suffering criminal acts cause innocent people. It does not glorify the inmate. Instead it challenges us to see the face of Christ in people who need encouragement and support to leave behind a life of addiction and/or violence and become the person God intends them to be.

“We cannot do everything, and there is a sense of liberation in realizing that.
This enables us to do something, and to do it very well.
It may be incomplete, but it is a beginning,
a step along the way,
an opportunity for the Lord’s grace to enter and do the rest.”

COVID-19  (back to Table of Contents)

KY Department of Corrections (KYDOC)

Update  (as of July 5, 2021)

For the most recent COVID-19 updates, see
No historical data of COVID cases is available, only the most recent.

The following sentence has been on the webpage above for nearly the entire time this webpage has existed. “No active cases for inmates from county jail.”
The data for the number of cases of COVID-19 in the County Jails is unavailable.

Key Initiatives  (as of January 26, 2021; a 1 page document)

The first two Keys are listed below:
• Visitation is suspended at all facilities.
• All outside programming and volunteer activity is suspended to limit the number of people entering a facility.

Until a new list of KYDOC Key Initiatives is created and promulgated, there will be no outside programming and volunteer activity in the three adult prisons within our diocese.

Volunteer Job Description (back to Table of Contents)

The Diocesan Office of Social Concerns, Prison Ministry, invites you to respond to the Gospel call to “Love one another as I have loved you.” The men, women, and juveniles incarcerated in these facilities have need of this ministry of presence.

Volunteers serve as companions to offenders, victims, and affected communities. These incarcerated men, women and youth will come back into our communities upon their release. The preparation for release begins while they are still incarcerated, enabling them to learn how to live as peaceful and productive members of society again. Our volunteers are invaluable, providing a loving and committed presence in increasingly multicultural and interfaith settings.

Together, we discover the greater depths of God and are lovingly transformed in the process. We invite you to join us in this life giving ministry!

Accountability
Volunteers are guests of the correctional facilities. They are accountable to the prison/jail administration and chaplain, to their parish staff—Pastor/Prison Ministry Coordinator, and to the Director of the Diocesan Office of Social Concerns. They are governed by the institutional rules and regulations.

Qualifications
An ability to see God in all those they encounter
A willingness to follow the rules of each facility
An awareness of their own gifts and limitations

Responsibilities May Include
Liturgical Presiding
Eucharistic Ministry
Music Ministry
Sacramental preparation / Researching Sacramental records
Small group facilitation
Bible Study / Scripture Reflection
One-on-one visitation or letter writing
Restricted housing unit visits (e.g. segregation)
Legislative Advocacy
Victim support
Prayer Ministry
Parish and Community Outreach
Transitional support (clothing, housing needs, job development)
Coaching/Mentoring in the reentry process

Training
Orientation and training are provided on site by each facility.
The Diocesan Office of Social Concerns will also offer some training opportunities.
Prison Ministry: A Ministry of Presence  (back to Table of Contents)
By Thomas Lawlor  (Diocese of Palm Beach, Florida)

The most frequently asked question by prospective prison ministry volunteers and other inquiring minds is, “What exactly do you do?” The answer to this question varies depending on such factors as time allotted, space considerations, the availability of priests and deacons who are part of the volunteer cadre, and the makeup of the inmate population being ministered to.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, preceded by the Sacrament of Reconciliation, is the greatest gift the ministry brings to inmates, superseded only by the administering of the Sacrament of Baptism. Mass and Reconciliation are offered on a regular basis in some institutions, less frequently in others, depending on some of the factors mentioned above. Baptisms are conducted as required. When priests are unavailable, deacons and Extraordinary Ministers of Holy Communion conduct Eucharistic Services. Bible studies, bible discussions and prayer sessions are generally conducted by deacons and lay volunteers, as are preparation classes for inmates desiring the Sacraments of Baptism and Confirmation.

It is difficult to conduct organized, ongoing bible study classes in a county jail or juvenile detention center because the inmate populations in these institutions are constantly in a state of flux. The majority of inmates in jail are awaiting trial. After trial they may be remanded back to jail for a limited period of time, are released, or sent off to state prison to serve longer sentences. Basically, they move on pretty quickly. Such is the case with juveniles who, on average, serve even shorter sentences than do adults in jail. So, bible-discussion sessions work best for these inmate populations. With such, the volunteers go in prepared to discuss a given bible passage or set of passages on a related topic, and present the material to the inmates for contemplation and discussion. What scripture tells us about forgiveness, prayer, salvation, faith, the Apostles’ faith journey, etc., are subjects that are generally well-received.

Bible study programs are more appropriate for inmates in state prisons, those serving sentences anywhere from a year to life. While the Florida Department of Corrections does transfer inmates periodically from one institution to another, their length of stay at any given facility is generally several years. This enables volunteers to utilize longer term bible study programs and go into the word of God in more detail. It is not uncommon for volunteers to hear from inmates that the sessions are the highlight of their week, something they look forward to very much. It is also not uncommon for interested inmates to get together themselves in groups to study the word of God further during their free time.

Matching the interests, abilities, previous pastoral experiences, knowledge of the faith and times of availability of volunteers, with the needs of various inmate populations, is a bit of a challenge. It is, however, a prerequisite to setting the stage for an effective ministry experience for all concerned. At the outset, each new volunteer in the Diocese of Palm Beach is given a Prison Ministry Volunteer Manual designed, among other things, to help them settle into the ministry with greater ease. A significant portion of the manual is devoted to providing prepared “talks” on the subjects mentioned above and more.

Upon reflection, perhaps the best answer to the question, “What exactly do you do?”, is “We show up!” It generally takes volunteers a while before they come to understand that often it is not the agenda they planned, or the bible passage(s) selected, that will impact the inmates on any given day. It will be nothing more than their presence. It is through consistent, faithful presence on the part of volunteers that inmates come to see true followers of Christ committed to living the gospel, and bringing His message of love, mercy and forgiveness to others they do not even know at some sacrifice to themselves. For many inmates, that kind of presence doesn’t go unnoticed and is often overpowering. The presence of volunteers is just one of the many ways the Holy Spirit reaches out and touches the hearts of those who are confined behind prison walls, far out of sight of the general population. But the Holy Spirit is always working, there and everywhere.
BACKGROUND

During this Jubilee Year of Mercy, Pope Francis has called us “to make compassion, love, mercy and solidarity a true way of life, a rule of conduct in our relationships with one another” (2016 World Day of Peace Message). A Catholic approach to criminal and restorative justice then recognizes that the dignity of the human person applies to both victims of crime and those who have committed harm. Justice includes more than punishment. It must include mercy and restoration. A simplistic punitive approach to justice can leave victims of crime with feelings of neglect, abandonment and anger making reconciliation and healing difficult. A restorative justice approach is more comprehensive and addresses the needs of victims, the community and those responsible for causing harm through healing, education, rehabilitation and community support.

People ought to be held accountable for their actions but justice and restoration must be the object of punishment which must have a reformative purpose. In the thirteenth century, Saint Thomas Aquinas wrote, "In this life, however, penalties are not sought for their own sake, because this is not the era of retribution; rather, they are meant to be corrective by being conducive either to the reform of the sinner or the good of society, which becomes more peaceful through the punishment of sinners” (Summa Theologica, II-II, Q. 68 A.1).

Rehabilitation and restoration also include the spiritual dimension of healing and hope. Those who are impacted by crime or commit crime need the healing power that comes from being reconciled with their neighbor and community, as well as with God.

For restorative justice to be effective, it must also address the systemic and structural barriers to healing such as racial and economic disparity, cycles of crime and incarceration and the breakdown of the family. Those returning to the community following incarceration face significant barriers such as homelessness, unemployment, poverty, substance abuse, emotional and psychological stress, and social isolation. Without the proper support to help them succeed, recidivism is more likely placing the person in an almost endless cycle adversely impacting the community and the life and dignity of the returning citizen.

USCCB POSITION

In his talk with prisoners at the Curran-Fromhold Correctional Facility outside Philadelphia in September, Pope Francis stated, “This time in your life can only have one purpose: to give you a hand in getting back on the right road, to give you a hand in helping you rejoin... society. All of us are a part of that effort, all of us are invited to encourage, help and enable your rehabilitation.” The Holy Father highlights the important relationship between incarceration and rehabilitation and suggests that responses other than incarceration may be helpful in certain circumstances.

The U.S. Bishops have also called for a restorative justice approach. In their 2000 pastoral statement, Responsibility, Rehabilitation, and Restoration: A Catholic Perspective on Crime and Criminal Justice, the Bishops stated, “Just as God never abandons us, so too we must be in covenant with one another. We are all sinners, and our response to sin and failure should not be abandonment and despair, but rather justice, contrition, reparation, and return or reintegration of all into the community.”

ACTION:

Congress has the opportunity to advance legislation that will enact meaningful sentencing reform and support for important reentry programs. Urge your Senators and Representative to support policies that lift up human life and dignity, promote civility, community safety, and help reform people’s lives harmed by crime and violence.

- The Sentencing Reform and Corrections Act of 2015 (S. 2123) is a bipartisan bill introduced in the U.S. Senate that would reduce several federal mandatory minimum drug and firearms related sentences and make those reductions retroactive. It makes the Fair Sentencing Act of 2010 retroactive which established parity in sentencing between crack and powder cocaine offenses. It expands the federal “safety valve” exception for drug mandatory minimum sentences giving judges more discretion and, allows many federal prisoners to earn time credits for completing rehabilitative programs in prison.

- Sentencing Reform Act of 2015 (H.R. 3713) is a bipartisan bill introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives that would reduce several federal mandatory minimum drug and firearms sentences and make those reductions retroactive for some prisoners. It makes the Fair Sentencing Act of 2010 retroactive which established parity in sentencing between crack and powder cocaine offenses, and, also expands the federal “safety valve” exception for 5- and 10-year drug mandatory minimum sentences (not retroactive) giving judges more flexibility in sentencing.

- Second Chance Reauthorization Act (S. 1513, H.R. 3406): Authorizes funding for reentry programs that help people leaving prison reintegrate back into their communities in healthy and productive ways. Programs that focus on education, literacy, job-placement, substance abuse treatment and others help people be productive members of society. These programs are often administered by faith based groups.

Getting Started  [back to Table of Contents]

For Volunteering at KY State Prisons:

1. Contact the priest who coordinates Catholic ministries at the state prison (see KY State Prisons Info page, below).

2. Contact the Chaplain at the state prison you would like to visit (see KY State Prisons Info page, below). The Chaplain at the prison will likely coordinate the entire volunteer approval process.

3. Requirements to be a volunteer vary depending on the facility but may include:
   • a criminal background check which may necessitate going to the local police or sheriff’s office for fingerprinting
   • a written statement of why you want to be a volunteer and indicate you will be volunteering as part of the Catholic Prison Ministry program and not a “lone wolf”
   • a statement from your pastor that you are a member of the church in good standing
   • completion of application form

4. The volunteer approval process can take anywhere from 3 months to several months. This can be a lengthy, and sometimes frustrating, process. It mostly depends on the facility at which you are attempting to volunteer. One key to expediting the approval process is consistent and respectful communication with the Chaplain. In many facilities the chain of command is highly regarded, so be sure to always address any issue with your established contact first.

For Volunteering at County Jails/Detention Centers:

1. Contact the pastor or jail ministry coordinator at the parish in the county where the jail/detention center is located (see County Jails/Detention Centers Information page, below).

2. Contact the jail/detention center (see County Jails/Detention Centers Information page, below).

Prison Ministry Rules for Volunteers

1. Learn the rules and obey the rules.
2. Do not smuggle any article (to include religious) in or out the facility.
3. Unless approved by the Chaplain, you must bring all items through the Chaplain.
4. Never accept anything from an inmate.
5. Do not get involved with an inmate’s personal or legal matters.
6. If you find an inmate is concerned about the welfare of his or her family, refer the individual to speak with the Chaplain.
7. Do not pass any message for inmates to other inmates or to people outside the facility.
8. Do not mail books or other items to inmates.
9. Do not give inmates financial assistance at the facility where you minister.
10. Volunteers will not be under the influence of un-prescribed drugs or alcohol while performing volunteer duties in the ministry. Volunteers will not bring drugs, weapons or alcoholic beverages into an institution. This includes such items as pocketknives, nail files, cell phones or other similar items.
11. Do not give inmate any items such as gifts or money. Nor accept gifts or money.
12. In the event of a disagreement or problem between a volunteer and an inmate, the volunteer should notify the Chaplain. If the event is serious, notify a corrections officer immediately.
13. Do not share your personal business with offenders or discuss personal information.
14. Do not play favorites; be fair and consistent in your relationships and interactions with inmates. Do not take sides.
15. Keep commitments. In the event that a meeting or session has to be canceled, notify the chaplain in advance. Expectations are developed by inmates and maintained by you.
16. Volunteers should dress appropriately when conducting ministry. Tight clothing or revealing apparel is not appropriate. Use common sense.
17. Some types of physical contact (hugging etc.) are often misunderstood. Extreme caution should be taken in this area.
18. Always wear your volunteer ID tag or institutional visitors tag.
19. Do not take letters or other items out of an institution for a confined offender. Do not bring letters or any others items into an institution and give directly to the offender.
20. Volunteers may not be on any inmates visiting list at a facility where they volunteer. Notify the chaplain if this is an issue for direction.
21. Do not give inmates any personal phone numbers or address or personal information on yourself or another volunteer.
22. Do not agree to make business or personal transactions on the street for inmates.
23. Maintain any confidential information about an inmate to yourself. Do not take personal information regarding an offender outside the facility under any circumstances.
24. While ministering inside the facility as a volunteer, you may not visit with family members, church members or anyone with whom you have a relationship. Notify the Chaplain if you discover someone you know is incarcerated at the facility. Seek the Chaplain’s direction.
25. As a volunteer you will not be a character witness for an inmate or write the parole board in behalf of the individual. If you do for one you will have to do for all. When in doubt, do not commit. Notify the Chaplain for direction.
26. Do not have any one accompany you to the facility who is not authorized to enter. Though they will not be allowed entrance, there could be a case of an unauthorized entry.
27. Under no circumstances will wine be offered to inmates during Church Services. Only the priest and deacon are allowed to consume the wine.

Fresh Start
(back to Table of Contents)

Fresh Start for Life, Inc. is a Christian Faith-based Program for character transformation and community transition for those who have conflict with criminal and civil law. Fresh Start strives to work together with Christian churches, service organizations, and the legal system to help offenders develop moral character that lines up with ethical values and community standards.

Fresh Start is based on the words of Jesus Christ, “For I was…in prison and you visited me” (Matt 25: 35-36). Fresh Start works to bring together Christian churches of various denominations to join hands in the work of restoring offenders. This “community approach” is in line with the Spirit of Christ, who prayed for his followers to be united in reaching the world (cf. John 17:20-21).

Jail and prison ministries are no longer something that occurs just in jails and prisons. Fresh Start ministers to the people during incarceration and after their release to ensure successful transition back into our communities. There are many inmates whose lives have been changed by Christ while they are incarcerated. But, if they don’t have the love from a local church and the help of godly mentors, they are just as likely to return to jail or prison as someone who never had that saving experience. We have a responsibility to open our hearts and help them make the transition. The Fresh Start reentry program defines what being a Christian involves: hearing, believing, taking action, and making a commitment.

Fresh Start Friendship Committees work with those who want to change and voluntarily participate in the reentry program. The offender, now called our client, meets with the committee on a frequent and consistent basis, no less than twice a week and more if possible including worship services, Bible study, and church fellowship activities. This immediately replaces their past circle of friends and activities with godly friends and activities. These committees become the client’s lifeline through spiritual uplifting and mentoring.

Fresh Start supports REC retreats (see below), Friends of Sinners, St. Benedict’s Homeless (Emergency) Shelter for Men, Celebrate Recovery programs, Cursillo, Emmaus Walk, and small support groups in the Owensboro area.

REC (Residents Encounter Christ) is an experience of Christian living and community. Although Catholic in its roots, REC is an interdenominational Christian ministry to people in jails or prison - residents. It has been designed specifically for those who are serving time in a jail or prison. It is a variation of TEC (Teens Encounter Christ) and Cursillo modified for the jail or prison environment.

The program began in the late 1960’s in a county jail in Lawrence, MA when 3 Franciscan priests offered a retreat for inmates. The first REC in Kentucky took place at the Kentucky Correctional Institution for Women (KCIW) in Peewee Valley in August 1986. It came to the Owensboro Diocese in 1991 when weekends began for the women at Dismas Charities in Owensboro. It has since spread across our Diocese with weekends currently being held at Blessed Mother and St. Pius X parishes (Owensboro, men), Daviess County Detention Center (men, women), Grayson County Detention Center (men), Green River Correctional Complex (men), and Kentucky State Penitentiary (men).

The word “encounter” describes exactly what happens on a REC weekend. The residents are given an opportunity to truly encounter Jesus Christ as part of their life. Through the meditations and religious celebrations, the residents should gain new insight into their faith and a deeper realization of Christian Community.

The weekend is an intense 3-day experience in Christian living during which the residents are brought into a true encounter with the Lord Jesus Christ. The specific purpose is to bring individuals who are serving time under sentencing of the court system to a greater awareness and sense of God and the presence of the power and grace of the Holy Spirit in their lives.

The weekend is based on the Paschal Mystery – the dying and rising of Jesus Christ. As such, the residents are invited to examine their lives and find those things they need to “die to” in order to “rise to a new life in Christ.”

It has been amply demonstrated through past decades that true Christian renewal programs of this nature have brought about an awakened sense of self-worth, recovery of the sense of identity and an emerging sense of hope and rehabilitation among both male and female residents. The goal is to bring the message of salvation and a recovery of the person’s worth and value as a child of God and a brother or sister of Jesus Christ. REC seeks to address the individual’s need to learn from the past, face the present, and plan for the future.

The Division of Reentry Services vision is to help all we serve to achieve a successful reintegration into society beginning with the first day of incarceration or supervision. The Division's mission statement addresses three key areas. We focus on forming community partnerships. By formalizing partnerships across Kentucky, we are gaining resources to assist the justice-involved population with barriers. This is also beneficial in educating society about barriers that exist.

Kentucky Reentry Councils (back to Table of Contents)

Kentucky Reentry is part of the Division of Reentry Services and are made up of reentry task forces or councils throughout the state of Kentucky. The reentry groups do not provide services for ex-offenders, nor do they have reentry programs. They are made up of individuals and organizations networking together to share information and improve the reentry process. The members may be organizations and/or individuals that provide services and/or have interests in helping. Each group is focused toward ex-offenders coming back to their areas, the issues involved, and making their community safer.

If you would like to join, please visit their website: http://www.kentuckyreentry.org/

House Bill 284 went into effect July 15, 2020. This new law amended KRS 439.268 and allows the Department of Corrections to offer clients that are currently under the supervision of Probation and Parole (P&P) Program Good Time Credit (PGTC) for programs completed on or after August 1, 2020.

Sources that are interested in becoming a DOC approved substance use disorder treatment program provider can find additional information for the application process from Addiction Services of Kentucky. Approved providers will receive referrals from DOC and have their program listed on DOC’s website as an approved provider.

The Department is unable to approve any substance abuse treatment programs that require religious participation or that meet the definition of a religious program since good time credit cannot be awarded for such programs. In order for a program to qualify for good time credit the program must have a secular purpose, be one that neither advances nor inhibits religion, and must not foster an excessive government entanglement with religion.

Supporting a successful transition to the community and maintaining stability within the offender population is central to the mission of the Kentucky Department of Corrections. The Department protects public safety by ensuring that offenders receive educational courses, programming, and reentry services to support their successful return to the community. Programs are standardized across the Department, implemented with dedicated resources, and regularly reviewed for quality assurance.

KYDOC-contracted Reentry Service and Recovery Centers

(back to Table of Contents)

The Contract Management Branch of the KYDOC is responsible for overseeing community service centers that house state probationers, inmates and parolees. Inmates who are classified as community custody and are near their parole eligibility dates are placed in these centers/halfway houses. This integration program allows inmates to become reacquainted with their families and the community and gives them a head start in seeking employment. This includes those offenders in need of substance abuse care and are located at one of the Kentucky Recovery Centers. In addition, many inmates are enrolled in vocational schools and/or college programs.

- Day Shelters
- Residential Alcohol and Drug Treatment Centers.

Reentry Mentor Initiative (back to Table of Contents)

What is the Reentry Mentor Initiative?

In keeping with the Mission Statement of the Division of Reentry Services to empower individuals with resources, support, and to promote successful reintegration into the community, the KY Department of Corrections is introducing our Reentry Mentor Initiative in 2019. The Reentry Mentor Initiative provides our justice-involved population an opportunity to be paired with a mentor who will help them identify and work towards life goals, navigate through the barriers they will face returning to the community after being incarcerated, and to develop pro-social interpersonal and community relationships. The mentor relationship will begin while the individual is incarcerated and continue after they are released.

After completing specialized mentor training, mentors will be paired with a mentee at a state facility by the Division of Reentry Services. Mentors will be asked to meet with their mentees at least one time per month with additional options of communication via phone and e-mail. Mentors will be tasked with assisting their mentees with setting specific, measurable, and achievable life goals.

Via Executive Order 2019-003, if a person was convicted of a non-violent felony, their right to vote and hold a political office is automatically restored when they complete their sentence.
Victim Services  (back to Table of Contents)

KY Department of Corrections Victim Services Branch

https://corrections.ky.gov/Victim-Services/Pages/default.aspx

The Victim Services Branch (VSB) is committed to assisting victims and survivors throughout the duration of their offender's incarceration and supervision. We are dedicated to ensuring that crime victims are treated with dignity and respect.

A victim's need for assistance does not stop once an offender has been sentenced. In fact, it continues throughout an offender's incarceration, and VSB is the arm of Corrections which handles those requests for assistance.

Victim advocates from VSB work with victims daily as they attempt to locate information about their offender. We also travel the state to educate those involved in the criminal justice system about the VINE service - with the goal that all victims are aware of the protection the service offers.

KY Crime Victims Compensation Fund Program

The board decides compensation claims from victims of violent crime who have no other resources to pay for the medical, funeral, mental health counseling, and dental or corrective lens expenses resulting from the crime. Assistance can also include lost wages of the victim or loss of support for someone dependent on the victim. When awarded, payments are made directly to service providers or can be reimbursements to victims or claimants. The board's goal is to provide not only the above-mentioned assistance, but also to show empathy to crime victims during a particularly traumatic time.
